Dr. Avron Lipschitz, MD of Athena Plastic Surgery Cosmetic surgery, injectables and medspa

By Wendy Meyerson Vogaley
Correspondent

Although he is performing some of the most advanced cosmetic surgeries in medicine today, what Dr. Avron Lipschitz offers in his state-of-the-art facility is what many would consider a lost art. His friendly bedside manner, genuine warmth and commitment to giving every patient the time and attention they need set this board certified plastic surgeon apart from others in his field.

Athena Plastic Surgery's 7,000-square-foot facility includes spa, medspa and cosmetic surgery center. Dr. Lipschitz and his dedicated staff provide an exceptional experience, while helping people achieve their goals of looking and feeling better.

"It's my goal to provide superlative service. While getting the best aesthetic result is, of course, the ultimate goal, giving people a remarkable experience is also paramount," explained Dr. Lipschitz.

the doctor and his staff to provide patients with their personal phone numbers in case of a question or concern before or after a procedure. From the moment you walk through the doors at Athena, you feel like a treated guest, a feeling similar to what you'd experience at an upscale, indulgent resort. Judging from the number of delighted patients he's amassed since he began his practice, this doctor is getting it right. His facility will soon include an operating room right on site, giving him the opportunity to provide an even more enhanced experience.

At the end of the day, Dr. Lipschitz is most fulfilled by seeing his patients happy. "I feel quite lucky to be able to do what I do," he said. "Making people happy is what it's all about."
